INVENTOR OF HYDROPHONE Began Working on Communi- cation of Sound When Still a Young Man

By Associated Press
Sydney, N. S. — Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, died in his home at Baddeck Tuesday night.

Washington, D. C. — News of the death of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell at his summer place and laboratories at Baddeck, Nova Scotia, came as a shock to the scientist's many friends in Washington, although they knew he had been failing for several months. At a birthday luncheon some months ago Dr. Bell's friends were surprised to see that he had become feeble from age during the last year and that his remarkable vigor was fast disappearing.

No funeral arrangements have been announced but it is expected that Dr. Bell's body will be brought to Washington for burial.

EFFORTS RIDICULED

Alexander Graham Bell lived to see experiments which he began with a dead man's ear less than 50 years ago result in a means of communication for millions of long distance telephone conversations daily in all parts of the world. The possibility of talking over a wire, ridiculed then as a dream by almost everybody except Bell, became during his lifetime a reality commonplace and marvelous.

The Bell basic patent, known in the records at Washington as No. 174,465 has been called the most valuable single patent ever issued in the whole history of invention. There are today over thirteen million telephone instruments through which billions of telephone conversations are carried on each year.

Means of communication had been a hobby in the Bell family long before the inventor of the telephone was born. Two generations back, Alexander Belle became noted for inventing a system for overcoming stammering speech while his son, Alexander Melville Bell, father of the inventor of the telephone, perfected a system of visible speech.

With this heritage, the son, born in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1847, undertook similar experiments while still a lad. He constructed an artificial skull of gutta-percha and Indian rubber that would pronounce several words in weird tone, when blown into by a hand bellows. At the age of sixteen he became, like his father, a teacher of elocution, and an instructor of deaf mutes.

Bell reached a crisis in his life at the age of 22, when he was threatened with tuberculosis. The white plague caused the death of his two brothers and the Bell family migrated to Brantford, Canada.

His first success while testing his instruments in his new quarters in Boston, Thomas A. Watson, Bell's assistant, had struck a clock spring at one end of the wire, and Bell was electrified to hear the sound in another room. For forty weeks the instrument struggled, as it were, for human speech. Then on March 10, 1876, Watson became almost insane with joy when he heard over the wire Bell's voice saying:

"Mr. Watson, come here, I want you."

On his twenty-ninth birthday, Bell received his patent. It was at the Centennial Exposition held at Philadelphia, two months later, when men of science the world over who had come to examine and study the numerous inventions exhibited, saw Prof. Bell give a practical demonstration of the transmission of the human voice by electricity.

In the world war, Dr. Bell and F. W. Baldwin invented a boat called a hydrophone which developed a speed of 70 miles an hour and was called the fastest in the world. It used an airplane propeller and carried its main body above the water as its speed increased. It was intended for submarine chasing and scouting but the armistice prevented its use for those purposes.

Firemen Find Dog Morgue In Burning House

By Associated Press
Milwaukee — Through years of decadence, Jane, Margaret and Charles Mellon, all middle aged, had occupied the old Mellon home here, once a social center, with blinds drawn down, unmolested by neighbors. Their chief interest in life apparently was centered in their canine pets.

Tuesday smoke issuing from upper windows summoned firemen and police to the darkened old house. The fire was trivial and soon extinguished, but in examining the house firemen found nine dead dogs enshrouded in old laces and shawls. Eight living dogs were found. Enthroned on a couch was found a white silky-haired dog which seemed blinded for lack of light.

The occupants of the residence had inherited the house and other property from their parents and seemed to have converted the place into a domicile for dogs. After the fire the Mellons were taken to the psychopathic hospital.

STATES IN FIGHT OVER WATER POWER

Madison — A fight between Wisconsin and Minnesota over the electric power developed by the St. Croix river in Wisconsin, was intensified in a letter sent to Senator Irvin L. Lenroot and Congressman Joseph D. Beck, by the Wisconsin Railroad Commission appealing to the congressmen to protest against the petition of St. Paul, filed with the Federal Power Commission, involving the condemnation and acquisition of water power sites on the St. Croix River.

The plans of St. Paul is to develop a large industrial center near St. Paul, the commission says and asks Governor Blaine to protest to chairman Weeks of the power commission against the contemplated action of Minnesota.

If the power commissions grants the petition, Wisconsin will be unable to acquire power development on the rivers in the state to benefit Wisconsin industries.

The commission suggests that if Minnesota industries should have the benefit of Wisconsin water power, they should operate in the state and be incorporated in Wisconsin corporations.

2 BOND ISSUES AWAIT ACTION BY CITY DADS

Appleton's School and Bridge
Problem is Nearing
Solution

A meeting of unusual importance and interest is to be held by the common council in the city hall Wednesday evening. Action of some kind is expected on the matter of submitting the construction of the Lawest bridge and the Cherry-st. viaduct to a bond issue vote of $200,000 by the people at the November elections. The city engineer was instructed at the last meeting to obtain estimates on the probable cost of erecting these bridges and submit them to this meeting.

Another weighty matter that will be presented is the proposal of the joint committee of the board of education and the common council of a bond issue of approximately $425,000 for the erection of junior high schools. Several more sewer trenching contracts will also be awarded.

PAY IN 15 YEARS

The proposed junior high school bonds, an issue of approximately $425,000, which is to be recommended to the common council at the meeting Wednesday evening, are to be paid from 1925-1940 inclusive. This decision was reached at a meeting of the finance committee in the city hall Tuesday evening.

It was decided to advance the first payment to 1925 because of the remaining present high school bonds, $10,000, which will be paid off by that time.

The bonds are to bear 4 1/2 per cent interest. The plan is to retire $5,000 worth a year for the first ten years by which time the remaining water-works bonds, $404,000, will be cancelled, the annual payment will be increased to $50,000 with an increase of $50,000 each year until the entire amount is paid.

GANFIELD ASSAILS OPPONENT AGAIN

By Associated Press
Ashland — William A. Ganfield, candidate for the United States senatorial nomination against Senator Robert M. La Follette made several speeches in northern Wisconsin Tuesday during his motor trip from Superior to Ashland. At Ashland he pictured La Follette as having "one foot on the Republican platform and the other on the Socialist platform."

Then he went on to say: "There are two government political parties in America. These two parties have a splendid history. They differ widely at times in matters of principles and politics, but a man or woman can be loyal to all interests of the government, either a Republican or Democrat and ment and to the constitution of the United States."

"There are some extremely radical movements and organizations at work in the several countries of Europe and the state of America. We have here in Wisconsin, the Socialist party and other kindred radical organizations and movements. The principles and policies of the Socialist party are so very different from the principles upon which our government was founded and their policies are so radically opposed to the policies of the Republican party that it seems to me entirely impossible for any sincere, thoughtful person to adopt and adhere to the principles of the two parties at one and the same time."

Madalynn Is Facing Third Murder Trial

REED LEADS RACE
FOR NOMINATION
TO U. S. SENATE

By Associated Press
Los Angeles — Mrs. Madalynn Obenchain, of Evanston, Ill., Wednesday in the Los Angeles county jail faced a third trial for the murder of her sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy Aug. 5, 1921. The jury which heard her second trial was discharged late Tuesday when, after 97 hours of deliberation it reported it still was unable to reach an agreement.

M. O. Paddock, foreman, told the court the final vote was 8 to 4 for acquittal.

The district attorney's office announced the state would try Mrs. Obenchain again and Judge John W. Shenk put the case upon his calendar for next Friday for resetting.

Indications came from the prosecution that charges might be filed against certain of the jurors on the ground they entered the jury box with preconceived ideas of the defendant's innocence.

These were answered by others from the defense that it might charge certain attaches of the district attorney's office with "jury tampering."

When the court discharged the jury, certain of its members declared foreman Paddock had refused to permit a full discussion of the evidence. It was said the jurors, early in their deliberations, first "cleared" Mrs. Obenchain of the murder charge, next of second degree murder and then voted as to her possible guilt on a manslaughter charge.

It was upon manslaughter, it was said, they made their last stand of 8 to 4 for acquittal.

GREEN BAY TEAM WOULD COME BACK

Manitowoc Also Wants Berth
in Valley League—Talk of Eight Teams

By Associated Press
Oshkosh — Here's the latest gossip for the fans backing the Fox River Valley League to talk about:

Green Bay, recently ousted for flagrant violation of the rules of organized baseball, is sorry it slipped over the fence. It is exceedingly anxious to come back and promises to be good henceforth. Also it would be glad to select a club head who will be acceptable to the league directors and who will see that the rules are obeyed to the letter.

Sheboygan, awarded the Green Bay franchise and scheduled to play the Oshkosh Indians here next Sunday, is determined to stay in the league now that its long cherished wish has been realized and directors will go the limit to keep Sheboygan in.

MANITOWOC WANTS BERTH
Manitowoc, which with Sheboygan is among the best baseball towns of this part of the state is eager to come into the Fox River Valley league and get away from independent baseball. It is ready to make the transfer on quick notice and is waiting at the gate.

Therefore the stage is all set for enlarging the present circuit of six clubs to eight.

John F. Kluwin, President of the Valley League, was asked about the prospects this morning. He declined to make any statement further than to declare that the league clubs must strictly observe the rules of organized ball or cease to function.

Notwithstanding the reticence of the league president, it is understood that Manager Lynch got a hearing with Mr. Kluwin in behalf of the Green Bay club and promised to mind the rules rigidly if taken back.

PROHIBITION OFFICERS RECEIVE INSTRUCTION

Milwaukee — School days for 24 federal prohibition agents instructed by prohibition director James A. Stone, are being held here, Thursday being the last day of the session.

The Wisconsin agents received for their first day's lecture instructions as to the best methods of catching bootleggers and it was said that Mr. Stone told them experience as a bartender or bootlegger would be valuable experience, based on the theory that "it takes a thief to catch a thief."

The lighter car was turned over in the ditch. The driver of the touring car sped away from the scene of the accident without stopping.

New York — Ten men were reported killed Wednesday in an explosion on a tug boat at the foot of Gold street, Brooklyn.

LAWS TO STOP FURTHER WALK OUTS NEEDED

President and Borah to Take Up Question of Better Industrial Relations

By Associated Press
Washington — When the two mg strikes now pending are settled, the entire question of industrial relations will be tackled by President Harding and Senator Borah, chairman of the senate committee on labor, in an effort to draw up a code of principles that can be enforced.

HARDING CODE OUTLINED

Action Will Come After Railroad and Coal Strikes
Are Settled

By David Lawrence
Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.

The president outlined such a code in his message to congress last December and Senator Kenyon of Iowa, who was then chairman of the committee on labor, introduced a bill which is still before the committee even though Mr. Kenyon has resigned to go on the federal bench. Other proposals have been made along the same line and Senator Borah visited President Harding the other day to get his views on the kind of legislation that would meet his approval.

Mr. Harding promised to go into the question thoroughly with Senator Borah just as soon as the present strike situation is cleared up.

HARDING'S VIEW

The president's viewpoint on the necessity of a regulated industrial community is expressed in his own words thus:

"As we have great bodies of law carefully regulating the organization and operations of industrial and financial corporations, as we have treaties and compacts among nations which look to the settlement of differences without the necessity of conflict in arms, so we might well have plans of conference of common councils, of mediation, arbitration and judicial determination in controversies between labor and capital. To accomplish this would involve the necessity to develop"

MIGHT USE PEAT IN SHORTAGE OF COAL

By Associated Press
Madison — Peat will be considered as a fuel for state institutions in case of an acute coal shortage in Wisconsin, it was announced at the state engineer's office Wednesday.

Although Wisconsin does not produce a pound of coal there are thousands of acres of peat bog which is available in case of emergency, John J. Mack, state engineer, said Wednesday. Only in case of a real necessity, however, will peat be considered, he said. While peat has only one half the heat value of bituminous coal, it is both costly to produce and bulky to transport.

Every section of the state has a quantity of peat which is available, Mr. Mack said. Thus the transportation problem would be relatively easy. The process of digging the peat and drying it for use is both expensive and tedious. That it could be used in making steam, the engineer said, has been already proven.

The work is under the direction of the state board of health.

PASSAGE OF TARRIF BILL IS EXPECTED THIS WEEK

By Associated Press
Washington — Passage of the administration tariff bill by the senate this month seemed to be almost certain Wednesday as a result of agreements reached separately by Republican and Democratic leaders.

After considering the Simmons proposal, Republican leaders decided to make a counter proposal for a final vote on the bill on August 15 instead of August 19.

HALL CANNOT PASS ON JUDGE GRAASS' CASE

Morgan Declares Question
Must Be Decided by Court or Congress

Madison — Secretary of State Elmer S. Hall is not clothed with the authority to decide whether the name of Henry Graass, circuit judge of the fourteenth judicial circuit, shall be permitted to be placed on the official ballot, Attorney General William J. Morgan held in an opinion Wednesday morning to the secretary of state.

Mr. Morgan held that it is the duty of the secretary of state to certify the name of Judge Graass to the county clerk of the ninth district and leave the legal question involved to be settled by the courts or congress if the candidate receive the largest number of votes.

The secretary of state must transmit the certified list of candidates to the county clerk no later than the second Monday in August.

Judge Henry Graass, filed his nomination papers with the secretary of state recently. However, he made no direct statement concerning his candidacy for congress in this district in opposition to Elmer S. Hall, LaFollette candidate for congress.

The law reads that judges of circuit courts can hold no public office during the term of which they have been elected.

Judge Graass' term of office expires January 1926.

SHERIDAN ROAD WILL BE OPENED ON SEPTEMBER 15

Four States Will Celebrate—
Houghton and St. Louis
Connected

Milwaukee — With Friday, Sept. 15, selected as the tentative date to mark the formal opening of the Greater Sheridan road, from St. Louis to Houghton, Mich., which is known as highway 15 in Wisconsin, plans are going forward by civic and business interests to make the opening of the artery a most impressive one. A complete organization to include the communities adjoining the highway will be arranged by a special committee, of which Ray Smith, president of the Greater Sheridan Road, Inc., is head.

One feature will be the presence of governors of four states, if present plans go through. Gov. Blaine has already signified his intention to be present. Missouri, Illinois and Michigan governors will be invited by a special committee, so that when the plans are completed, there will be official representation from all of the states concerned.

The celebration will be held either in Oshkosh or Fond du Lac, or between both cities, as Oshkosh is the end of the present new concrete construction program.

ROBBER SUSPECT IN BELOIT NABBED

Beloit, Wis. — Alton Powers, 43 years old, alleged by Miss Ellen Horgan, Gays Mill, to be one of the assassins who clubbed her into unconsciousness then looted the Horgan home of $50,000, was hoarded gold on July 24 was arrested here on a warrant served by Sheriff J. F. Herold of Crawford county.

A second Beloit man, Bert Thorpe, returned with Herold voluntarily to be confronted by Miss Horgan to determine whether she can identify him as her second assailant. Powers asserts his innocence, claiming an alibi to cover his whereabouts July 24. He claims he had been visiting when he was with Powers. When Powers went by automobile to Gays Mill a week ago on Saturday he says he took Thorpe with him, to visit the latter's family at Excelsior.

RAIL HEADS REJECT SAME PEACE PLANS

Stationary Firemen and Oilers
Concur With Shopmen
On Decision

AWAIT HARDING'S MOVE

Seniority Rights Issue is Again
Stumbling Block to Strike Peace

By Associated Press
Chicago — Chiefs of the striking rail employees Wednesday voted to accept President Harding's proposals for ending the railroad strike and appointed a committee to draft the text of the acceptance and forward it to the president immediately.

The actual vote was taken among the more than 100 chiefs of the six federated shopcrafts under B. M. Jewell. Timothy Healy, president of the Stationary Firemen and Oilers' union, the only other organization on strike, announced that his organization would concur in the shop craft's action.

RAIL HEADS REJECT

The proposals were understood to be the same as those which the railroad executives refused to accept in full at their New York meeting the executives rejecting the proposals that strikers be restored their seniority rights if they return to work.

Union leaders refused to speculate as to what effect their action might have on peace prospects.

The action of the union heads was the only outstanding event in the rail strike situation.

AWAIT HARDING'S MOVE

Washington, D. C. — Careful study of the railway executives' reply, refusing to accept President Harding's plan for settlement of the shopmen's strike so far as it dealt with the seniority issue, and also that expected from the labor leaders' meeting in Chicago was expected Wednesday to precede any further move by the executive in the strike situation. There had been no indication of what new step, if any, the government planned to take. It was intimated at the White House that the tone of the replies and the circumstances under which they were made would influence to some extent the President's decision as to how the problems would be dealt with from this point on. The government has known, views the railroad strike as serious in effect only because of the present stoppage of coal production. In order to cope with that problem it has been intimated repeatedly that the administration would be disposed to force a quick settlement of the railroad difficulties, even though the necessary measures might involve some reestablishment, of the former control of the railroads.

COAL DEALERS TO MEET IN MADISON

If I Could Use a Typewriter

I'd have a machine in my home, and I would type letters, manuscripts, etc., evenings.

In this way I'd make quite a little extra money. There always is plenty of work for a good typist.

Think of all the people who want work done — authors, business men, ministers, students, professors, lawyers and others.

How would I find these people? This would be easy — with Post-Crescent Want Ads. Most Appleton people turn to the "Services Offered" columns of The Post-Crescent when they want something done. I would have my message there for them to read.

34 TEACHERS GET EXTRA PAY FOR STICKING ON JOB

State Rewards Mentors Who Teach in Same School
Two Years or More

Thirty-four drafts were received at the county school superintendent's office from the state treasury department this week for county teachers entitled to state aid. The state provides that successful teachers who stay in one school more than one year are to receive special state aid at the rate of $2 a month after the first year, $4 a month after the second, $6 a month after the third and $8 a month after the fourth year every year that a teacher stays in one school. The aid is to encourage teachers to stay more than one year at a school. To guard against waste of money in paying incompetent or mediocre teachers for unsatisfactory services, each application must have the approval of the county superintendent.

The teachers and the amounts they receive are as follows: Sadie Banker $65.40, Edna Sarsch $71.25, Rose C. Bos $18.40, Catherine Bougie $36.24, Clara B. Conradt $71.28, Katherine Dempsey $17.10, Gertrude Dunbar $18.40, F. W. Kollath $36.24, Adelaide Gerend $18.40, Gertrude Krause $15.40, Frances Longe $64.40, Mercedes E. CHANGING STREET NAMES WILL NOT AFFECT NEW MAPS

City Planner Likes Weissgerber's Plan for Renaming Thoroughfares

A plan for renaming all or a number of Appleton streets was not incorporated in the plans and maps that Professor Leonard S. Smith, city planning engineer, will present soon to the city planning and zoning commission for adoption. "This is entirely a local matter," Mr. Smith said when asked for his opinion on the several plans proposed. "I will have no suggestions to offer on the matter at all. If I were to express my own personal opinion, I would say that your city engineer's plan is probably the one that will best satisfy the greatest number of people in Appleton. The ideal plan of course, is the one used in the city of Washington where the city is divided into quarters and streets are designated by directions such as 'South-east Fourteenth St.' A system of that kind, however, would be difficult to introduce here. I can easily understand the sentiment attached to the names by which the streets have been known for more than a half century."

NO EXTRA EXPENSE
"I think that Mr. Weissgerber's plan of numbering the houses 100 to a block, erecting signs at all intersections designating the present streets by directions and changing the names only of those streets that now bear two and three names is the proper system to adopt." It was feared in some quarters that any change of street names would incur a great expense in the city planning and zoning project and make it necessary to draw all new maps in place of those that will be submitted to the planning commission. All that will be necessary, Mr. Smith explained, would be to erase the names that are to be changed and insert the new ones.

ADVERTISING CLUB LABORS FOR TRUTH

Unearth Scheme to Use Baseball Star's Name in Promotion Literature

Appleton Advertising club, which is taking part in the nationwide movement to promote truth in advertising, has received a circular from the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World telling how that organization has squelched a stock selling scheme of an oil company in Texas which used the name of this speaker, noted baseball star, in its advertising literature. Speaker's name was used in the advertising matter to inspire confidence in the company, it was charged.

Speaker repudiated the oil company entirely when his attention was called to the advertising matter. The literature went so far as to quote Speaker and carry his picture.

Advertising men in Appleton also have a vigilance committee which closely watches all advertising matter here and has been instrumental in maintaining the high standard of truth in advertising which is evident here.

LA FOLLETTE HAS FAILED TO TURN TIDE FOR FRIEND

Schneider's Supporters Think Senator Has Lost Strength in District

That La Follette's opposition to George J. Schneider of Appleton Progressive Republican candidate for congressman from the Ninth district has harmed his influence in the Ninth district, is the belief of Fred E. Bachman, president of the Outagamie Co. Farmer-Labor Progressive league which endorsed both La Follette for senator and Mr. Schneider for congressman. "When La Follette spoke in Green Bay Friday," Mr. Bachman said, "He was greeted by the G. B. & W. band and about 700 striking railroad employees. It was quite a shock to them to hear the senator oppose their own candidate."

ALL FOR SCHNEIDER

"But the men had their minds made up on Schneider before the senator came. His speech in which he favored Ellmer S. Hall for congress will in no way affect the vote of the laboring men. It may hurt La Follette to some extent in this district, but it cannot hurt Mr. Schneider whether in farmer labor circles or anywhere else. La Follette may be supporting Hall for personal reasons, having been his friend for 25 years. But the problem in this district is one that the farmers and laboring men feel they have to work out themselves. Hall has not been endorsed by any organization. He simply entered the race. But Schneider has had and will continue to have the official endorsement of the Farmer-Labor league both in this county and the entire district." The county farmer labor body will hold a regular meeting in Trades and Labor hall Saturday evening. An interesting meeting is looked for especially in view of the recent turn of affairs.

Mrs. Louis Schwab has gone to Milwaukee for a several days' visit with relatives.

STATE TO SUPPLY UTILITIES HERE WITH AMPLE COAL

Priority Shipments Will Keep City From Darkness and Supply Fuel for Homes

Appleton will not be in darkness nor without gas for fuel as the result of the mine and rail strikes if protective measures planned by the governor are carried through.

The Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company has been informed by state officials that enough coal will be supplied the plants here to keep them in operation. This will be accomplished by giving such shipments from the docks priority over others.

Traction company officials have been asked to submit a statement as to the amount of fuel on hand, how long it will last and what the minimum requirements are to keep the power and gas plants in operation. Requisitions will be filed by the company for enough of a supply so there need be no shut down.

ARRANGE PROGRAM OF FUN FOR SHOE MEN CONVENTION

Exhibit in Armory, Excursion to High Cliff and Dancing Are Features

Amusements are to have enough of a place on the program of the convention of the Wisconsin Shoe Retailers association here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week to prevent the meetings and conferences from becoming tiresome.

The first breathing spell after a series of talks during the afternoon will be on Tuesday evening. Business meetings will be suspended and an opening fete held at 7:30 in the armory, which is to be the exhibition hall for 55 large shoe manufacturing and jobbing companies.

More than 500 merchants and their wives will spend their time moving up and down the exhibit aisles to see the newest in footwear and the offering of the big houses for the fall and winter season. They will have a chance to meet their friends, mix with other shoe men and make new acquaintances. A large orchestra will give a concert all evening.

HIGH CLIFF PICNIC
Wednesday's recreation program will be the biggest, and perhaps one of the features that will attract a large delegation to Appleton. The meetings will close at noon and at 1:30 an excursion steamer will leave the government dock for High Cliff park. A refreshing ride will be enjoyed along the pretty shores of the Fox river and through Little Lake Butte des Morts and across Lake Winnebago to the east shore.

Baseball fans will be busy from the moment the delegates arrive, picking out hunters, heavy hitters and fast runners for the ball game which will be staged on the Clifton diamond at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Cafeteria supper will be served at 6 o'clock in the park and there will be dancing from 7:30 to 9:30.

AUTOMOBILE TOUR
Ladies of the convention will be treated to a sight-seeing trip through the Fox River valley at 2:30 Thursday afternoon by automobile, with Appleton Women's club rooms as the starting point. The tour will be along the north side of the river to Kaukauna and the return along the south bank. A stop will be made at Kimberly, where an observation trip will be conducted through the Kimberly-Clark paper mill.

On the concluding evening there will be dancing at Waverly beach pavilion beginning at 8:30 in the evening. Willard S. Ford will lead community singing at all of the sessions.

UNCLE SAM CUTS PRICE OF 1922 POSTAL GUIDE

The new postal guide, which is published annually, is off the press. The book, which contains exhaustive information regarding location of post-offices, number of rural routes in each office, discontinued offices, parcel post zones, and zone key, postage rates, wrapping regulations, etc., is now offered at a reduced price. It now is sold for 75 cents, as compared with the old price of $1. The monthly supplement service, which tells of new postal rulings is furnished extra for 25 cents for the year. Large business houses that are heavy users of the mails find the book a great help and time saver, it is said. The books are on sale in the office of the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, but the local postoffice will be glad to take care of local orders. Postmaster William H. Zuehlke announced.

FURS AND MYSTERY

By A. CARSTENSEN
Appleton's Exclusive Furrier

The fur business has always felt the paralyzing effect of war as much as any other business and far more than some other lines of business. This is probably due to the fact that America, almost since its discovery, has been a fur exporting country.

When the war of 1812 broke out, fur conditions in this country were different from those of a hundred years later. At that time the annual collection of skins was far in excess of their domestic consumption and most of the furs exported were sold at the fur markets of London. With the war on the market value of skins dropped till trapping was unprofitable.

During our war of 1860-65 thousands of former hunters and trappers joined the colors. As a consequence, prices of skins were high and the collection far below the demand.

The havoc created by the world war resulted in far greater loss to the fur business than did the earlier conflicts. Practically all of the countries at war were heavy consumers of furs from this country. When their ports were closed to American shipping the prices of skins began to tumble. Merchants in the face of rapidly changing conditions, bought in but small lots, a fact which further depressed the fur market.

Many trappers, too, used to receiving far higher prices for their pelts, refused to accept the low prices offered and trapping was almost at a standstill until the demand for skins for military use somewhat strengthened the fur market.

With the close of the war the demand for furs for consumption both at home and abroad has increased to a point far beyond that of pre-war days, and far beyond the supply. As the demand increased substitution likewise increased. Make sure of the furs you are buying by seeking a reliable furrier, for the immense amount of substitution makes a rich harvest for the unscrupulous dealer.

Beware of the Wolf in Sheep's Clothing.

Payment Of $5 Fee Is No Assurance Of Citizenship

Aliens Angered When Citizenship Is Refused and Fee
Is Retained

Several aliens residing in Outagamie county who have made application for admission to citizenship in the United States and paid the fee of $5 connected therewith and then were refused admission, are considerably annoyed because they cannot recover the fee they have paid. They seem to have the feeling that they could "purchase citizenship" by payment of the fee.

According to George N. Danielson, United States naturalization examiner, when an alien takes out first papers he pays the clerk of the circuit court $1 and when he files his application for second papers he pays $4. This $5 fee which he has paid does not pay for his admission to citizenship at all, but half of the fee is allowed the clerk of the court for the work he does and the other half is sent to Washington to pay for the clerical work done there. The work has to be done whether the alien is admitted or denied and there is no good reason why the clerk should not be paid for their work, if the alien is not fortunate enough to be admitted to citizenship by the court.

CITIZENSHIP IS GIFT
"Citizenship to an alien is considered as a gift of the government to him, thru the agency of the courts, provided he complies with the law and the court is satisfied that he will make a good citizen," Mr. Danielson said. If citizenship in the United States could be purchased by any one who paid $5 on the clerk of court's desk, it would be getting down to a pretty low ebb.

"Any alien who has been denied citizenship, if he desires to reapply, and his first papers have become void, must take out a new first paper and then in two years from that date make a new application for his second, in this case, he will have to pay $5. If this first paper is still good, he will have to pay just the $4 for the application. The work has to be all done over again by the clerks and under the law they are entitled to their fees."

"An alien who was recently admitted to citizenship at Wausau, had lived in six states and he told the examiner that the witness and notary fees which he paid to prove his five year's residence amounted to about $300 and he did not begrudge one cent of it as he did not place any money value on becoming a citizen of the United States."

Good Points About
FOOT-FITTERS
WATCH FOR THE OTHERS

There is Now a Way to Know Good Shoes

Here is an announcement that is highly important to every man in Appleton who wears shoes. A way has been found to visualize and identify 'FOOT-FITTERS.'

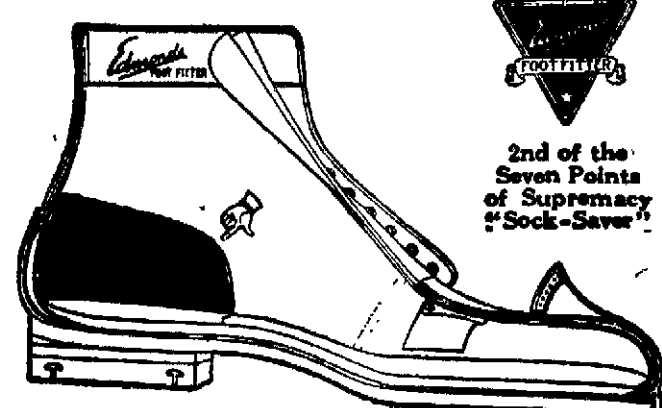

Look for the trade name when you buy shoes — it is the symbol of perfection.

Remember, when you find it you may be sure that the shoes are all leather. But the name Edmonds on the triangle signifies even more—it is proof that the shoes are made by skilled workmen and are as perfect as it is humanly possible to make them.

FOND DU LAC FIRM AWARDED CONTRACT

Will Dig Two Miles of Trench for Watermain—Start
Aug. 10

Contract for trenching more than two miles for water mains on twelve streets in Appleton was awarded to the Anthony Thomason company of Fond du Lac by the Appleton Water commission at the regular meeting in the city hall Tuesday afternoon.

The proposal of the Fond du Lac company was 25 cents per lineal foot. The contract calls for digging 10,700 feet of trench. Other bidders for the job were the R. J. Wilson company and the Appleton Grading and Excavating company. The contractor is expected to begin work on the project before Aug. 10. A stretch of approximately 6,000 feet will also be begun by the R. J. Wilson company in about 10 days.

The streets on which the Thomason company will work are Vine, Nawa-da, Harrison, Candee, Gilmore, South Division, Outagamie, Mason, Brewster and Carver-sts. and Linwood and Rogers-aves.

Payroll and bills amounting to $4,777.27 were allowed by the commission at the meeting and the auditor's report for June was accepted.

EVEN RAIN CAN'T STOP ROTARIANS

Play Baseball in Raincoats and Bathing Suits When Skies Leak

Rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the company of Rotary picknickers that flocked to the beach at George Packard's and George Wettengel's cottages Tuesday afternoon and evening. Although the showers "poured cold water" on some of the plans made by the fellowship committee, the outsiders made the best of the opportunity and played baseball a-la-mode, that is, in raincoats and bathing suits. The game played before supper and during the rain was in "work-up" fashion. A regulation game was played in the evening which was won by Earl Williams' team, the team of "Gag" Saecker finishing second best. Croquet and cards were the only other athletic sports indulged in. Lunch which was contributed by the picknickers was pooled and eaten in the Wettengel cottage. Although there was enough refreshments for double the number, very little was left over when the party broke up at a late hour.

Whom Shall Mollie Marry?

Chapter 23 — Freedom for Don

As Billy led Don toward the door the fast-quieting atmosphere was again electrified at Wheeler's threat to put Don in jail.

"Oh, come, now, Wheeler," protested Billy, dismayed at this. "Don's had his punishment. He must have gone through hell. Give him a chance to straighten out."

"There's lots of chance for reflection in Midvale prison," Wheeler grinned mirthlessly as he moved to the telephone.

Billy regarded him with a cold disdain.

"I should think," he said, "you could show yourself bigger than this, now the man's down. Take me on instead. I'm at least normal in mind and body."

"Oh, I'll take you on, all right. I'm not the man to be set upon in such a way and then told to run along and forget it!" He jiggled the telephone hook irritably.

Molly came briskly forward and put her hand tightly over the mouth-piece.

"Of course you won't do it, Ben," She spoke with the simplicity of conviction. Molly's eyes held Wheeler's steadily, entreatingly. "Do it because I beg you to. Let him go."

Wheeler returned her look obstinately.

"You choose a pretty moment, my girl," he smiled a twisted jerk of his thin lips. "To ask favors of me. I must say you—"

"Oh, Ben, I don't ask it as a favor. It's my right. Haven't you said you'd do anything to win my love? Surely you'll do this thing to keep my friendship. I would do much more, my dear, to keep yours."

A little tender lilt in her voice touched the hard fiber of him, but he fought doggedly.

"I don't accept half things. Friendship! What's that from you to me? I want— But I guess you've shown pretty plainly what your feelings are—as that cur has pointed out." He shot an ugly glance toward Don at the door.

Molly colored like the glow of morning in midsummer.

"This is hardly the moment for me to discuss that, Ben. The thing to settle now is this: Do you care enough for my friendship to show yourself a man, a really big man, when you've won?"

The squeak of the telephone operator's voice over the wire was the only sound for several breathless moments. Then came the clatter of the receiver back on its hook and Wheeler's snarl. "Take him out of here then before I forget myself."

Don wearily left the room. Billy was about to follow, but Wheeler called out:

"Remember, Barton, the fight's on. I'm not done with you yet. You'll find a letter from the Carson Company at your office!"

City of Ice

The magic Green Shoes set the Twins and the Magical Mushroom down very gently on top of a high mountain on the moon.

"Well, we're here!" said the Mushroom, looking "round curiously." "The old place hasn't changed much."

"Changed!" exclaimed Nick. "Why, were you ever here before?"

"Well, I should say so!" answered the Mushroom. "About three hundred years ago. One night the moon didn't show up and I had to find out the trouble."

"What was it?" asked Nancy quickly.

"Just an eclipse. They're common enough and nobody bothers about 'em nowadays. But there was a to-do about it that time. I tell you: How do you like the place?"

The Twins looked down from the great height where they were standing and their eyes grew bigger and bigger with wonder.

"Oh, isn't it beautiful!" Nancy gasped.

"It's fine, all rightee," declared

Nick. "Nicest place I've ever seen. What are those trees made of?"

"Silver," answered the Mushroom. "And those flowers?" asked Nancy.

"They're all yellow and shiny. What are they made of?"

"Gold," said the Mushroom. "And the rocks shine, too," went on Nick. "They look like diamonds."

"Some of them are," nodded the Mushroom. "And some are moonstones, and some are pearls. Some are merely rock crystal, and some are coral."

"Oh, there's a city!" pointed Nancy. "And it's white, too. What's it made of?"

"Ice," replied their fairy friend. "Ice that never melts here on the moon. It can be carved into beautiful shapes."

"I see another city yonder," cried Nick, pointing in an opposite direction. "Is it ice, too?"

"No, fine marble with trimmings of jewels," was the answer. "The cities on the moon are so beautiful they cannot be described. But come! We must find Mr. Peerrabout, the Man-in-the-Moon. He'll be waiting."

MARRIAGE LICENSES

An Appleton couple, William Engel, and Christine Johann, has filed an application with Herman J. Kamps, county clerk, for a license to wed.

NO OLD WOMEN NOWADAYS

Modern dress, hair dressers, facial experts and cosmetics all combine to keep women of all ages young and attractive in appearance. Not until the telltale wrinkles become so deep, the figure stoops, or some ailment or weakness develops to drag a woman down does she really look her age.

Every woman owes it to herself and her family to keep herself young in appearance, and happy. When headaches, backache or "the blues" develop or when a woman reaches the trying age from forty-five to fifty, Lycia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to keep her in health as it has so many other women whose letters we are continually publishing in this paper.

PUBLIC HEARINGS ON ZONING PLANS

City Plan Commission Studies
Ordinances Prepared
by Prof. Smith

The proposed city ordinance on city planning and zoning, submitted by Professor Leonard S. Smith, city planning engineer, was gone over in preliminary way by the city planning commission in a specially called meeting Tuesday, evening. All members were present except Charles Boyd and Professor O. P. Fairfield, who is absent in Europe. Several changes were made and will be incorporated in the document and it was ordered that every member of the council and of the planning commission receive a copy of the proposed ordinance. Extra copies will be multipographed in order that both bodies will have sufficient opportunity to study the plans. It is planned to hold several public hearings in the city hall before recommending the adoption of the ordinance to the council. Everybody will be given an opportunity to learn all about the plans and state why certain proposals should not be enforced.

"FOOL" DRIVER BLAMED FOR CORNER COLLISION

The old saying that you never know what the driver of the automobile ahead of you is going to do was emphasized to at least one driver at the corner of Richmond-st. and College-ave. Tuesday morning. Two automobiles, one behind the other, were on their way east on College-ave. and when Richmond-st. intersection was reached the driver of the first car swung to the left as if about to turn north. Instead of doing so, however, he swung to the right to turn around and came in contact with the other car. One of the rear wheels of his car was damaged and a fender on the rear car was slightly bent. Both drivers were unidentified.

Diamond Tires- Full Of Life

Solid Truck Tires.

You truck owners who recall the first trucks on our city streets as far back as 1912 little realized that in a short time the truck would play such a large part in our city, state and national affairs.

However we were far sighted. In 1914 we established the first solid tires press for removing and applying solids in the state outside of Milwaukee. From time to time it was considered folly to install same.

At the present time we cover 15 counties and take care of 90% of the trucks in that territory on solid tires. Rendering day and night service on solid tire equipped trucks has established us as a necessity.

Wheels are removed by experts and axles are examined and greased before again being applied. We render the truck owner such minor service which he appreciates and for that reason our Shop is so popular.

KAUKAUNA WARNED AGAINST CROOKS

Chief of Police McCarty Tells Businessmen to Watch Checks

Kaukauna—A new species of the "easy money" variety of swindler turned up in Kaukauna early Tuesday morning and although he gained little, his trick gave weight to the warning that business men should be on the lookout these days. Check forging and passing of bogus checks has become so common that a definite campaign is being started to overcome it. Although no checks have been passed here Chief of Police R. H. McCarty has posted letters in all the banks and has mailed warnings to all business people in Kaukauna to be careful when they honor a stranger's check.

A diligent search of the entire city failed to reveal the man who got away with a few dollars extra change Tuesday morning. His method of working was something like this: He went into the store of a south side business man and asked the small girl who offered to wait on him for a bar of soap. He tendered a $10 bill in payment and after he had received the change said he had just found an extra quarter and would like to receive the bill back again to avoid a lot of small change.

The girl obligingly took the price of the soap from the quarter and returned the bill, taking from the man what she thought was the change she had given him.

When she returned it to the cash drawer, however, she found $5 missing and the man out of sight.

RUSS FORBID WESTERN MOVEMENT TO SIBERIA

Moscow—Emigration of European Russian peasants to Siberia and other less thickly populated sections of the country has been forbidden by the council of commissars. For nearly a century the Russian government encouraged the movement of settlers eastward just as in America the pioneers struck out for the west.

The commissars announce there is no more free land to be had in Siberia and pointed out the tremendous difficulty in supplying emigrants with agricultural machinery and the food necessary to tide them over to their first harvests.

Invite Post-Crescent Readers To Write Views On Renaming Of Streets

City Council Would Like to Know How Appleton Citizens Feel About Proposed Changes in Names and in House Numbering System.

Expressions of opinion on the recently revised discussion of renaming Appleton streets have been so numerous, that it has been considered advisable to offer readers of the Post-Crescent its columns as a channel through which they may make their views public.

The common council's committee on streets and bridges has the matter of a new street name and number system under advisement and before it makes any recommendation, to the council would like to know how the people of Appleton feel toward the change. Any suggestions that may be offered will be appreciated by them. It is the opinion of several city officers that, inasmuch as any change would affect the people who live on the streets most, they should be heard from on what their preferences are.

Many of the residents believe the present system of street names is inadequate and confusing. The suggestions made to remedy the situation range from the moderate to the drastic. There are those also who favor leaving the street names and numbers as they are.

THREE MAJOR PLANS

Among the plans thus far suggested three have been discussed most. They are the plans of O. F. Weissgerber, city engineer; George T. Richard, manager of the Outagamie-co. Loan and Title company; and G. P. McGillan, chief of the fire department.

The plan offered by Mr. Weissgerber calls for the remaining of but few streets and the retaining of but one name for a street now called by two or three. He also proposes renumbering all houses beginning from the intersection of Oneida st. and College ave. and designating streets by direction, such as 104 North Oneida-st., or 312 East College-ave. The numbers would run 100 to a block. Street signs at intersections also are included in the plan.

A more sweeping change is proposed by Chief McGillan. His personal idea of a practical street name system is designating all streets by numerals, and distinguishing them by the terms "streets" and "avenues" and stating the directions. Streets running parallel with Oneida-st., for instance, would be called streets, those running parallel with College ave., to be called avenues. The dividing lines would be Oneida-st. and College-ave. and houses would be numbered from these intersections. "Streets" west of Oneida-st. but north of College-ave. would be designated Northwest First-st., Northwest Second-st., etc., those south of College-ave. Southwest First-st., etc. On the other hand the "avenues" which are the thoroughfares parallel with College-ave., located north of the latter but east of Oneida-st. would be termed First-ave. Northeast, Second-ave. Northeast.

The system favored by Mr. Richard in brief is as follows: All east and west thoroughfares north of College-ave. would be called avenues and numbered consecutively, such as First-ave. Second-ave., etc. All east and west thoroughfares south of College-ave. would be called streets and numbered consecutively such as

First-st., Second-st., etc. All thoroughfares parallel with Oneida-st. on the east side would be named streets and arranged alphabetically, such as Adams-st., Byron-st., Clark-st., etc. Thoroughfares west of Oneida-st. would be named avenues and also arranged alphabetically, such as Alton-ave., Bateman-ave., etc. Both numbered and alphabetically named streets and avenues according to this plan would also be designated by the directions East, West, North and South.

The Post-Crescent is desirous of ascertaining the views of as many persons as possible. Write your opinion to the Street Names Editor tonight. All communications must be signed. The following letter by Miss Carrie E. Morgan, superintendents of schools tells how she feels about the subject.

Editor, Post-Crescent: I have been very much interested in the articles appearing in the paper relative to the renumbering and renaming of the streets in Appleton. I have no objection to the renumbering, as our system is doubtless antiquated, but I have been anxious over the suggestion that all of our street names be dropped and that we be designated by numbers only. I quite agree with the gentleman mentioned in the article Saturday night, who thought Washington was a beautiful city, but said that he objected to living on the corner of 14th and K streets. It would be worse to live on the corner of First Ave. and First Street.

So far as the arguments have been given in favor of renaming our streets, I can recall only one, namely that the tourist and stranger have to make a few inquiries to find their way about. I object to the renaming on the ground of sentiment first, and secondly because I think that our citizens as well as strangers should receive some consideration and should not be made to relearn all the names of our streets.

It is true that some of our streets might well be renamed, as the names either lack significance or they are not euphonious and are hard to spell, but what one of the older inhabitants at least would want to give up Lawrence, Washington, Franklin and many more that are perfectly good names and familiar to all of us? To call College Ave. by any other name is unthinkable and Oneida St. has a real significance in this locality. As a resident of Green Bay street I should be glad to have the name changed to Green Bay Road for historical reasons and to mark an old landmark, but I have not figured out why Packard and Perry streets should be called North when they have no connection with it, except by way of an alley through the lumberyard, which connects with Bates and Appleton streets first and fully half a block from the North street line. I can also see reasons why Oneida and Lake streets should both be retained, the first for historical reasons and the second because it lends to the lake.

If any of our streets are to be renamed I think that the matter should be placed in the hands of a competent committee, who would study into the matter thoroughly and have good grounds for changing. I believe also that the residents on the street should be given an opportunity to express themselves before any radical changes are made.

LUMBERMEN MADE UNEASY BY STRIKE

Dangerous to Put Off Lumber Purchases Because of Rail Congestion

In its weekly review of the lumber market, the American Lumberman says: While the demand for lumber is picking up and the market is stronger than it was two weeks ago, the railroad situation and the fuel shortage are causing some uneasiness. Both buyers and sellers of lumber are in the main agreed that there is going to be a severe car shortage. In fact, in some sections and particularly in the south, lumber shippers are unable to secure all the cars they need. It does not seem to be so much a shortage of equipment as of fuel which has prevented the railroads from moving empty equipment to points where it is needed. Increasing demand from the country, and a better tone in the industrial market make up for slackening in building in some of the large cities. Unsold stocks remain small and production has shown some decrease. A number of buyers are putting off purchases temporarily, although admitting that the lumber will be needed badly in sixty to ninety days. The lumber trade holds that this policy is unwise, inasmuch as, once the coal strike is settled, all available cars will have to be employed for coal shipments, which, with the movement of farm products, is believed to be sure to cause very considerable difficulty in getting lumber shipments thru. A great many retail lumbermen handle coal and among them the belief is freely expressed that this winter straight trainloads of coal are going to take precedence over all other traffic, including passenger traffic.

2 COUNTIES PLAN REGULATIONS FOR AUTO BUS LINES

Racine and Kenosha Perturbed by New Busses on County Roads

Racine and Kenosha counties might possibly be the first in the state to regulate automobile busses using county highways in their business as a result of agitation started in the cities of Racine and Kenosha. The movement started following an announcement that six new busses are to be placed in operation to compete with the electric lines between those cities.

It is proposed in the two counties to compel bus owners to pay a portion of the fares collected into the county treasury as a license fee; to compel the cars to maintain a schedule and carry sufficient reserve equipment so the cars can continue operation in spite of traffic accidents, competition by owners to carry sufficient insurance to properly safeguard passengers, provide themselves with plows to clear away the snow in winter and sprinklers to wet the roads in the summer.

There also has been some talk of bus regulation in Winnebago county and it is possible the county board will take up the matter at its next session. Thus far there has been no attempt at regulation in Outagamie county.

Word from Chicago indicates the owners of traction company securities are taking a keener interest in bus regulation following reports that many companies operating interurban lines are losing money because of bus competition on concrete highways.

82 PER CENT OF AUTOISTS POSSESS BANK ACCOUNTS

Some mathematician over in Cleveland spent his vacation in figuring out the age of the average buyer of motor cars, and other data connected with industry which everybody should know. Here is what he found: The average buyer of automobiles is 34 years old, has a net monthly income of $349.70 net equity in real estate of $4,286.08, net equity in personality of $2,079.38, pays down $688.31 and agrees to pay the balance at the rate of $95.60; 74 per cent of the buyers are married, 82 per cent have bank accounts and 66 per cent carry life insurance.

Mrs. Alvia Waters and daughter, Shirley of Copper City, Mich., are visiting with Mrs. James Gribble.

33 ACCIDENTS ON RAIL CROSSINGS IN 3 MONTHS

Steam roads of the state have reported to the railroad commission in advance of their regular monthly report, 33 accidents on public crossings during the quarter resulting in the death of 8 persons and injuries to 25 persons. 26 of these accidents involved autos with 3 persons killed and 28 persons injured.

The steam roads have reported by letter a total of 65 accidents, other than crossing accidents during the quarter, resulting in 13 fatalities and 52 injuries. Of these casualties tree-passers furnished 7 killed and 14 injured.

Only Two Months Gasoline Supply Actually Stored

MUCH has been said during the past few weeks respecting the vast amount of gasoline in storage, and many have drawn conclusions from these statements which are not justified by the facts.

It is true that there is a fairly large storage on hand but when this storage is set against the consumption its relative size diminishes rapidly.

Between January 1 and June 1 the storage of gasoline was increased about 270,000 gallons, while the monthly consumption increased but 224,000 gallons; but during June the consumption was largely increased while the storage remained stationary.

During the past six weeks storage has decreased, as was to be expected, and this decrease will continue until late in the fall. Here are the most recent statistics taken from the reports of the U. S. Bureau of Mines:

Gasoline Stocks, Jan. 1922 - 586,087,132 gala.
Gasoline Consumption, Jan. 1922 - 274,844,808 "
Gasoline Stocks, June 1, 1922 - 585,607,102 "
Gasoline Consumption, May, 1922 - 499,242,343 "

The June consumption figures compiled by the Bureau of Mines are not yet available but we know from our own records that consumption is making heavy inroads into stocks.

Even at the present rate of consumption there is not to exceed 60 days supply in storage, which for this time of the year is abnormally low. Reports from refining areas indicate that refineries all over the country are being run to capacity, and we do not anticipate a gasoline shortage though predictions to that effect are being made.

It has always been the practice of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to operate its refineries to as near capacity as possible during the months of low consumption in order that it might have on hand adequate supplies during periods of great consumption.

Only a large and efficiently organized company can provide facilities which insure service regardless of demand. It is because the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) always is working, months in advance, that it can promise at all times a steady, constant, dependable service.

CHAPTER XV
Hobart's reply was a smothered cry and Miles and Scottie had only time to regain the shelter of the rear staircase when Miss Drake swept across the hall and to her own room.

"So she knows, does she?" Scottie rubbed his chin. "I wish to the Lord that we did, but it's my opinion we'll find out nothing more this night."

Scottie was right. Nothing happened until the next morning when Zorn appeared in the garden and had the older man summon Miles.

"Where can we talk?" Zorn asked as Miles appeared.

"Just down the road here. I understood your message Sunday evening, of course. Did you trace the—er—bill of lading?"

Zorn nodded smilingly as they strode along the road toward the weather-beaten shed.

"Yes. She is at Freedale at the home of a certain estimable but somewhat peppy old farmer named Higgs."

"Elphalett?" exclaimed Miles. "His sister Hitty has been a maid here in the household for a generation but I never thought of him! How did Miss Patricia happen to go there, and why?"

"Perhaps you had better read her letter first," Zorn glanced about the ramshackle shed and produced a small, bulging envelope.

Miles tore open the envelope and took from it two folded slips of paper.

"Dear Sergeant Miles:

Mr. Zorn will tell you how he found me and why I stayed away. I have promised him I will come home this afternoon. I had to tell you first, though, that I have broken our agreement. I am sending word to Mr. Kemp to meet me and I mean to tell him as much as I can without being disloyal to my family. After all I have been through I don't know what to think except that we have terrible enemies who will stop at nothing and I am nearly crazy. Please guard my father and the others well and find out what it is that threatens them before it is too late! Don't let them know what happened to me. I am going to tell them I left because they treated me so sternly."

The paper I am sending with this will show you why I left the house without trying to see you and put it in your hands. I only found it a little after ten that night. Perhaps it will help you to trace the dreadful woman who wrote it and the men who are in her pay, especially the one with the tattoo mark on his arm."

Hastily, Patricia Drake.

"This letter doesn't tell me much except that the young lady is on the verge of hysteria," he commented.

Miles had unfolded the second note. It was comparatively brief, and although its fine, cramped, shaken hand was unlike any that he had studied before during his investigation, there was yet something vaguely familiar about it which arrested him.

"My dear child," he read.

"Great trouble has come upon your esteemed father and your uncles and compelled them to do the strange things which have so distressed you of late. Now they are facing ruin and disgrace through no fault of their own, but you, my dear, can save them."

"I have known your family for many years and it is my duty to tell you the truth. I am an infirm old woman and live at some distance, but my car will be outside your gate at eleven tonight and my servants are to be trusted to bring you safely to me. I will make you comfortable for the night and you may return in the morning."

"Watch for the flash of light twice in the road and be prepared to come at once, telling no one or I cannot help you. Have faith in me for my only wish is to keep you and yours from greater sufferings."

A Friend.

"Great heavens!" exclaimed Miles. "Anyone but an unsophisticated child like Miss Patricia would have seen at a glance that this was the bunk! Tell me what she told you, Zorn; what happened to her?"

"She says that Saturday night she saw that note lying on the floor just under her opening door. She never thought of doubting the good faith of the 'infirm old woman,' threw a few things into a bag and waited for the signal. It came and Miss Patricia slipped down the drive to where a limousine stood at the gate with one man behind the wheel and another holding the door."

"After that things happened too quickly for her to utter a cry. The man took her bag, clasped his hand over her mouth and bundled her in also, and they were off. She was struggling, but a sweetish-smelling cloth—chloroform, probably—was placed over her face and then everything was a blank."

"When she came to herself there was a rush of cool air in her face for the window behind the driver's seat was down and the two men were talking."

"Her heavy beaded handbag was still on her arm and without stopping to think she smashed the man over the face with it, tore open the nearest door and jumped, crying and cursing and halting but another car was coming and that gave her an opportunity to scramble up and over a low stone wall into a mass of willow shoots growing by a brook."

"They gave up hunting for her and drove off. She stumbled along in the darkness with sense enough to keep on the main road. A moving van came rumbling along and on an impulse she hailed it; she says the idea flashed across her mind that if she could find out the name of the nearest village and get word to Mr. Wells he would keep her confidence and come to take care of her, at the same time sending a warning to you."

"When she asked them where they were going and they told her 'Freedale,' Miss Patricia thought at once of this Higgs and got them to give her a lift."

"Whatever they thought, they let her climb in and on the way she arranged with one of them to take that note to Mr. Wells when they got back to the city in the morning. They reached Freedale at dawn and Miss Patricia got down and went directly to the Higgs place."

"Did she recognize either of the two men who abducted her?" demanded Miles.

"No. But when one of them flung her traveling case into the car she saw that his sleeves were rolled up and a device of some sort was tattooed on one arm."

"Tell me how you located Miss Patricia," asked Miles.

"The scrap of paper she had used for that message to Mr. Wells started me in the right direction," Zorn replied. "I caught the first train to Brookside. It wasn't difficult to locate a new family named 'Slocum' and learn the name of the furniture mover."

"The boss of the moving gang described the house at Freedale where he had left the girl. I took the early afternoon train and located the girl at the Higgs place."

"Did you see Wells last night at eleven?" asked Miles.

"Yes. I came near being a disastrous appointment for me!" "Disastrous?"

"When I left his house somebody tried to hold me up; hit me with a blackjack and only the soft felt hat I was wearing saved me from being knocked for a goal! See?" Zorn removed his cap and displayed a strip of plaster where his smooth, blond hair had been clipped away. "He sneaked up from behind and landed on me, but, something must have scared him for he took to his heels and was gone before I could recover sufficiently to give chase. It's on me, isn't it?"

"It certainly is," agreed Miles, but there was a peculiar quality in his tone. "Are you going back to the city now?"

Zorn nodded and rose. "I wish you would deliver this letter. I dare trust them to the mails and time is an essential factor. It is to Professor Nigel Lorton, at the Archaeological Museum."

It was late that afternoon before Patricia put in her appearance and there was a new, shy dignity in her bearing that silenced the reproof upon her aunt's lips.

Roger had appeared at luncheon more wan and fragile than ever, but later Miles had caught a glimpse of him tottering down the drive muffled to the ears in a greatcoat in spite of the mild spring weather, and wondered what errand could have dragged him forth. The return of Patricia, however, turned his thoughts to other channels and the arrival within an hour of an unexpected caller banished all idle speculation for the time being from his mind.

The caller was Miss Ora Hawks but the transformation in her appearance was remarkable. If she had not quite succeeded in regaining the lost years of her youth she had made a victorious effort to mitigate the inroads of time.

The butler served tea in the drawing room, but the detective knew that although Carter had been sent to summon both Hobart and Andrew only the latter appeared and that reluctantly enough. Miles loitered in the hallway below trying in vain to catch a word of the conversation between Miss Hawks and her former swain.

All at once the heavy portieres parted and the visitor reappeared. It was doubtful if she was conscious of the pseudo-houseman's shadowy figure in the background as she made for the front door, calling back over her shoulder with a quick, convulsive catch of her breath.

"No, don't trouble, please! I can find my own way. Tell Jerusha I—I will see her soon. Goodbye!"

It was not the words nor the tone in which they were uttered which for a moment held the detective rooted to the spot, but the dazed look of half-incredulous wonder upon the woman's face and the glint as of dawning fear in her eyes.

Scarcely had the door closed when there was a crash in the drawing room followed by the hiss of flame and a man's bellow of profanity mingled with pain.

A pungent odor of smoldering cloth assailed his nostrils stiflingly as Miles dashed the portieres aside to behold Andrew tearing off his scorched coat from which a curl of acrid smoke arose and stamping out a tiny bluish flame that darted across the rug from beneath the overturned tea-table.

"That three-legged stand!" the latter growled beneath his teeth. "Help me get this off, William, never mind the rug."

"I'm afraid you are badly burned, sir," Miles ventured.

KELLEY, CIRCUS KING, TO TALK TO FARMERS AUG. 17

Annual Holstein Picnic Will Be Opened to Every Dairyman in County

One of the men who is drawing the biggest audiences of farmers of any platform speaker today will be in Outagamie-co. Aug. 17 and every farmer will be privileged to hear him. The man is John M. Kelley, legal counselor and advertising director for Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey and Sells-Floto circuses. He has consented to speak at the annual picnic of Outagamie County Holstein Breeders association on the above date. A centrally located picnic ground is to be chosen later so there may be a large attendance.

The Holstein men have decided to open the gathering to every farmer in Outagamie-co. instead of inviting only Holstein men and their families, because a man of Mr. Kelley's calibre seldom comes this way.

Mr. Kelley, through his talks in farming communities, has become one of the outstanding champions of the greater use of dairy products by the public, and is responsible in part for some of the big publicity campaigns that have been launched along this line.

NEED LAWS TO STOP FUTURE STRIKES

a thorough code of practice in dealing with such affairs. It might be well to frankly set forth the superior interest of the community as a whole to either the labor group or the capital group. With rights, privileges, immunities, and modes of organization thus carefully defined, it should be possible to set up judicial or quasi-judicial tribunals for the consideration and determination of all disputes which menace the public welfare.

RECOGNIZE LABOR RIGHTS

"The right of labor to organize is just as fundamental and necessary as is the right of capital to organize. The right of labor to negotiate, to deal with and solve its particular problems in an organized way, through its chosen agents, is just as essential as is the right of capital to organize, to maintain corporations, to limit the liabilities of stockholders. Indeed, we have come to recognize that the limited liability of the citizen as a member of a labor organization, closely parallels the limitation of liability of a citizen as a stockholder in a corporation for profit. Along this line of reasoning we shall make the greatest progress toward solution of our problem of capital and labor."

RIGHTS OF CAPITAL

"In the case of the corporation which enjoys the privilege of limited liability of stockholders, particularly when engaged in the public service it is recognized that the outside public has a large concern which must be protected; and so we provide regulations, restrictions, and in some cases detailed supervision. Likewise in the case of labor organizations, we might well apply similar and equally well defined principles of regulation and supervision in order to conserve the public interests as affected by their operations. Just as it is not desirable that a corporation shall be allowed to impose undue exactions upon the public so it is not desirable that a labor organization shall be permitted to exact unfair terms of employment or subject the public to actual distresses in order to enforce its term."

SCOUT CAMP FITS BOYS FOR SCHOOL

Scout Executive Buck Appeals to Parents to Send Youngsters to Onaway

A boy scout summer camp is something besides a pleasure resort. H. P. Buck, scout executive, has explained in an appeal to parents of scouts in Appleton, Kaukauna and Little Chute. It is also a school, he emphasizes.

"Did you ever stop to think of the educational value of sending your son to the boy scout summer camp?" he asks. "An excellent group of leaders has been trained to instruct your boy while in camp. The mornings are given over to instruction in just the sort of things you want him to know. We are not trying to take the boy away from home, but we do want to fit him so he will be better to serve at home by teaching him to do things and showing him his responsibility to his home, city, state and country. Scouting is often called 'Citizenship Training', a thing which none of us can get too much of."

Any boy that goes to camp will get enough of wholesome recreation and pure fun that he will come back refreshed and better fitted for the fall school work, the executive maintains. Saturday will be the last day to register for the first period which opens Monday at Camp Onaway at beautiful Chain-O-Lakes. The list is already nearly complete. Not more than 70 persons can be accommodated at camp at one time.

Convene in October

Members of Appleton Grocers association have been notified that the annual convention of the Wisconsin Retail Grocers association will be held at Milwaukee in October. Plans are being made for a large attendance.

DR. CANFIELD IS COMING TO COUNTY

Candidate for Senate Will Speak in Appleton on Wednesday, Aug. 9

W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, Waukesha, candidate for Republican nomination for United States senator, will be in Outagamie county on Wednesday, Aug. 9, for an entire day. It was announced Wednesday. Dr. Ganfield probably will speak in Appleton Wednesday evening.

Dr. Ganfield was endorsed for the Republican nomination at the state conference of Republicans called by the Committee of Forty-four last June. He is making a strenuous campaign and is drawing enormous crowds.

The candidate's itinerary in this county is being arranged and will be announced soon. He is scheduled to speak in Kaukauna, Seymour and Little Chute, among other places.

KIMBERLY BAND WILL GIVE CONCERT THURSDAY

The Cecellian band of Kimberly will offer its sixth concert of the season at 7:30 Thursday evening in Kimberly park. Refreshments and lunch will be served by the Ladies Aid society of the Kimberly church. The band is to render four more concerts this season.

Winner Opens Sunday

John D. Winniger, supported by his company of associated players, comes to Fischer's Appleton theatre Sunday for two days. The opening bill will be "What is Love", a George Scarborough comedy drama. Indications are that a capacity crowd will attend the productions.

CUT $200,000 OFF MALT PLANT VALUE

Board of Review Reduces Assessment on Mory Property to $40,000

An indication of what prohibition has done to the malt industry is seen in the decreased valuation of the property of the Wisconsin Malt & Grain Co. of Appleton. Five years ago when this concern was conducting a flourishing business, it was assessed at $240,000. With the enforcement of wartime prohibition and later that of the eighth amendment, the assessed valuation was lowered year by year.

Company officials asked the board of equalization for reductions in tax assessments and last year the board brought the assessment down to $75,000. The plant has been idle for some time. Should the legal manufacture and sale of intoxicating malt liquors be resumed, it is assumed that the value of the property would leap to that of pre-war times. In view of the present conditions, however, the Appleton board of equalization fixed the valuation of the property at $40,000.

J. E. Dennison, boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is one of the Appleton men who was caught in Chicago by the street car strike. He writes that there is not a street car to be seen anywhere, making the city seem a strange place as compared to the usual Chicago.

THE STAGE

"Bachelor Daddy" a Big Hit

A picture which radiates happiness and which undoubtedly will help many to see the finer and truer side of life is "The Bachelor Daddy" which opened last night at Fischer's Appleton theatre for three days. It is a picture which demonstrates power of child love and no better selection for the starring role therein could have been made than Thomas Meighan, famous as the "Good Luck Star."

The story is that of a man who unselfishly adopts the five motherless children of his dying pal, despite the fact that his own wedding day is but a week distant. He does not know it at the time, but the little ones bring him to realization of a greater love than he thought was possible.

The work of the star in this Farmington picture is wonderful while Leatrice Joy as leading woman acts her part with warmth and charm. Of the five kiddies—Charlotte (Peaches) Jackson, Barbara Maier, Bruce Guerin and the Briac Twins—two much cannot be said.

The choice locations, photography and performances of the remaining members of the cast all deserve praise, and in its entirety the picture is one of the happiest and most wholesome productions of the year.

GEORGIA HALL QUICK RECOVERING FROM FALL

Mrs. Georgia Hall Quick of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton, who suffered a broken back when she fell down stairs at her country home recently, is well on the road to recovery according to information received by friends here.

The injured woman was removed to her home, 543 Bellevue place, from Columbia hospital Saturday. Her husband, Dr. Edward Quick, also formerly of Appleton, said she probably will recover in a few weeks.

Mrs. Quick, widely known as a pianist, narrowly escaped death July 3, when she walked into an open staircase at her Fox Point summer home and fell headlong to the first floor. The attending physician said a bone in her spinal column was crushed, but that the spinal cord escaped injury.

INTERLAKE TEAM PLAYS AT BLACK CREEK SUNDAY

Shift In Infield Made Pulp Mill Team Stronger

Bramon is Working Well on Mound—Teams Tied for Second Position

Next Sunday afternoon will see the baseball playing Pulpmakers of the Interlake County league team engaged in combat on the diamond of Black Creek with the team from that village. The Interlake outfit is going to be a tough one to beat after its taste of victory last Sunday and knowing this the Black Creek team is preparing against the attack so as not to be caught like Dale was when the Pulp Heavers cut loose.

Both teams won their games last Sunday. Reports from the managers are that no changes are to be made in lineups. Greedy made a shift in the Interlake infield last week when O'Hanlon went to third base and Bill Last occupied second. Apparently the right combination has been found. Sternagel has recovered from the injury to his arm and pitched a good game against Dale. He is said to be in fine shape for Sunday which should sound like bad news to the Black Creek batters.

The Creek team is also boasting a good mound man in Bramon. The Freedom sluggers copped only three hits off him last Sunday while his heavy hitting teammates got a total of 14 off Nelson. The Black Creek fielders are also on the job in good style as is evidenced by the box score of last Sunday which shows that not a single error was made.

Four of the circuit's teams including Interlake and Black Creek, are tied for second place with an average of .500. This tie probably will be broken up after Sunday's game. The Interlake finished up on the low rung in the first half of the season but with the infield bolstered up and the pitcher working in good form they are bound to make a better showing in the last ten games.

STATE GOLFERS PREPARING FOR MEET AT WAUSAU

Kenneth Dickinson of Appleton is Present Title Holder of State

Golf clubs of the Northwestern Wisconsin association will send representatives to the association meet at Wausau which will be held August 10 to 12.

Wisconsin's ablest golfers will compete in this tournament which is counted as one of the most important events of the season. Kenneth Dickinson of Appleton is the present title holder and is counted on to be a strong bidder for the championship this year. W. F. Kerwin of Green Bay also will have to reckoned with in the meet.

The Wausau course of nine holes is reported to be in fine shape for the event. The qualifying round of 18 holes will be played August 10. There will be three flights of 16 each and Friday and Saturday will be devoted to match play to determine winners in the three flights. There will also be special events Friday and Saturday for those eliminated in the early rounds.

TENNIS MEET TO BE HELD IN MILWAUKEE

Invitations to Tournament Have Been Mailed—Look for Large Entry

Milwaukee—The Wisconsin state tennis tournament will be held on the courts of the Town club clay courts Aug. 12-23. Invitations to clubs and players to compete were mailed yesterday, and a large entry list is looked for. There will be competition in the various events as follows: Men's singles Aug. 12-20, men's doubles Aug. 14-20, ladies singles Aug. 15-23, ladies doubles Aug. 16-23, mixed doubles Aug. 16-23.

SPENCE SINGLES TROPHY
The new, handsome T. H. Spence challenge trophy goes into competition in the singles this year. It is the permanent property of any player winning it three times not necessarily in succession. The former open challenge cup was attached by Alfred Weller last year.

Special arrangements are being made to take care of out of town contestants at the Milwaukee Athletic club and other places. Out of town entrants who are not to visit friends are asked to write the tournament committee in advance.

MARRIED MEN WIN FROM SINGLE BOYS

The Married Men's baseball team demonstrated its superior ability over the Single Men's team at the first ward school diamond Monday evening in a game which ended 11 to 6 with the Benedicts in the lead. Robert Abendroth pitched for the Married Men and Fred Abendroth did the catching. The batter for the Single Men was Briesse and Schusman.

MENASHA TEAM WILL PLAY M'COY-NOLANS SATURDAY

Menasha's Valley league baseball team will play the McCoy-Nolans Saturday. The regular lineup of the Valley league team will be used.

TRAILING THE TEAMS

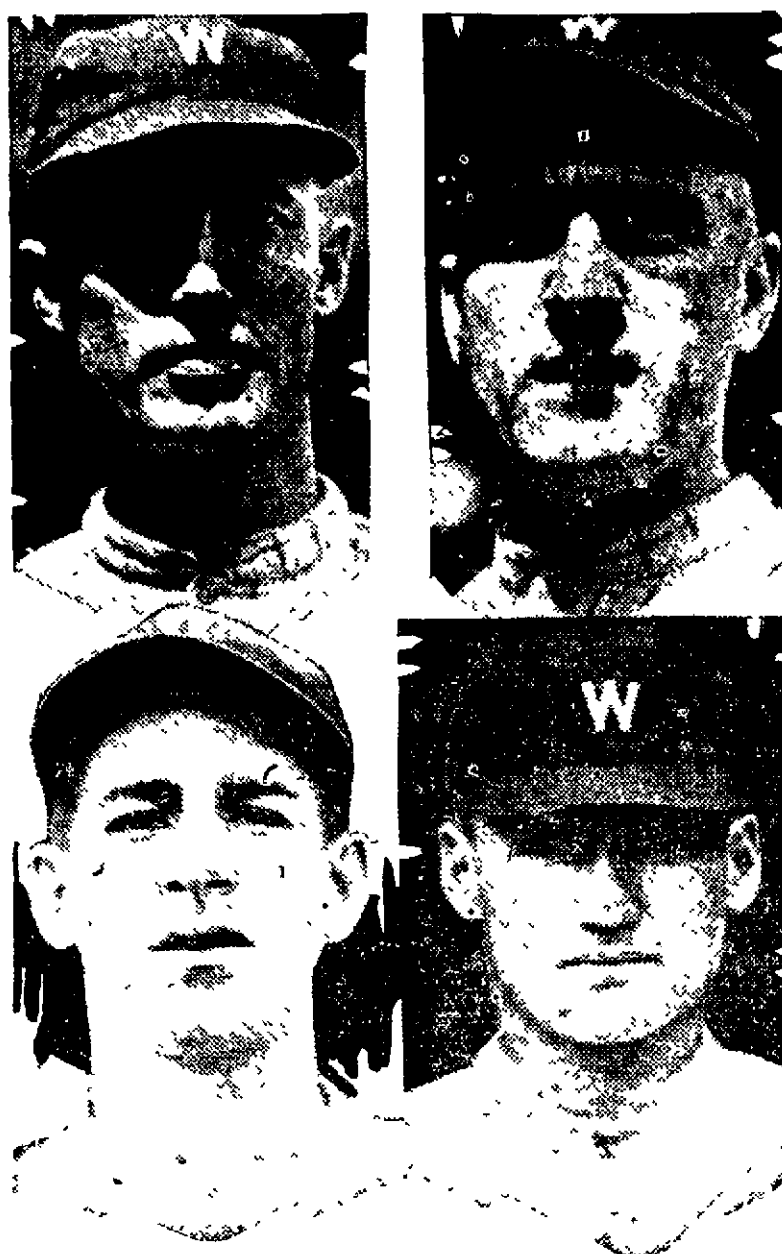

Chicago—Behind Ray Kolp's steady hurling the St. Louis Browns won their fourth straight game from the Red Sox and increased their lead over the Yankees whose game with Chicago was halted in the fourth frame by rain, to two full games. The St. Louis Nationals idle because of the rain profited by the Pirates fourth consecutive victory over the Giants and are within a few percentage points of first place.

Cobb's men, made a clean sweep of the four game series with the Athletics and went into a tie with the White Sox for third place in the league race. Cobb's two hits increased his record of hitting in consecutive games to 16.

The Browns' victory was marked by Ken Williams' twenty-seventh home run placing him in a tie with Hornsby of the Cardinals for major league circuit blows.

Cleveland took another heavy hitting encounter from the Senators 17 to 3. The Braves came out of their slump to defeat the Reds 4 to 2.

Four Washington Stars

SAM RICE
STANLEY HARRIS

In the contest to determine the American League's most valuable ball player, the Washington club has four strong entrees.

The fame and ability of Walter Johnson is too well known to need comment. Johnson for years has been the mainstay of the Nationals' pitching staff. Despite the fact that he is a veteran as ball players go, Johnson is still the Washington ace.

JOE JUDGE
WALTER JOHNSON

Then there is Stanley Harris, the flashy second sacker of the Nationals. He has many admirers at home and over the American League circuit. Harris is the logical successor to Ed Collins as the premier second sacker of the American League.

Joe Judge is a mighty fine first baseman and a dangerous hitter. No doubt quite a few fans have a strong liking for Sam Rice, the fleet outfielder of the Nationals.

GIANTS DEFEATED AGAIN BY PIRATES BY COUNT OF 10-2

New York Taken in For Fifth Straight Trimming—Carey Gets Home Run

New York—Pittsburgh made it four straight from New York here Tuesday afternoon winning the last game of the series 10 to 2.

It was the fifth successive defeat for the world's champions and reduced their lead over St. Louis to four points. Naylor who has defeated Pittsburgh in twelve straight games was unable to pitch because of illness and the visitors hammered Ryan and Jonnard freely.

In the first inning Carey hit his fifth home run of the series scoring Maranville ahead of him. The Pirates picked up seven runs in the fourth inning when they bunched five hits with two bases on balls and two New York errors.

Grooch of the Pirates was hit on the head in the second inning by a pitched ball by Ryan and was knocked down. He recovered but had to be assisted from the field. Ryan fell during the entire game, but never hard enough to stop play.

Pittsburgh 2 0 0 0 0 10-10 12 2
New York 1 0 0 1 0 0 0-2 11 3

Batteries: Cooper and Gooch; Mattox Ryan, Jonnard, Scott and Snyder.

Boston—Boston broke its losing streak by defeating Cincinnati, 3 to 2 on Tuesday. Marquard was given brilliant support. In the ninth Harper singled and took third on Ponessa's single but Cincinnati failed to score.

The score: 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0-3 9 1
Cincinnati 0 0 3 0 0 0 0-3 8 1
Batteries: Donohue, Keck and Hargrave, Marquard and Grady.

QUALIFYING ROUNDS PLAYED AT STATE MEET

Milwaukee—Qualifying rounds over 18 holes for the four flights of championship play in the Wisconsin state golf tournament at the links of the Milwaukee Country club started Wednesday morning at five minute intervals with more than 100 pairs in the entries. The last pair was scheduled to start at 3:55 Wednesday afternoon.

The first 32 to qualify will be placed in the championship flight, and the next successive groups of 16 will compete for the president's cup, vice president's cup and directors cup, respectively. The field in the qualifying rounds this year is larger than that of any other previous state tournament. Two hundred and eighteen state golfers are competing. The former high water mark was 158, reached at Madison two years ago.

RUTH IS UNABLE TO HIT BROWNS' ROOKIE PRUETT

Greatest Batsman Goes Hitless Nine Times Before Re-cruit Southpaw

By Billy Evans

Babe Ruth is the greatest slugger of all times. No one questions the right of Ruth to that title. His home run record of 59 circuit drives for the season of 1922 will live for years. In his way Dan Brouthers was one of the game's greatest batsmen. He was one of the sluggers of the old school. Dan is now employed at the Polo Grounds. Recently after Ruth had hit one a mile I remarked to him: "Could any of the old boys outslug Ruth?"

"Some of us could hit 'em pretty hard," said Dan, "but Ruth has it on any slugger I have ever seen. That bird isn't human."

But the Babe is human after all. A rookie pitcher has proved it. I have reference to Herbert "Shucks" Pruett of the St. Louis Browns.

Pruett is a left hander. Two years ago he was pitching college ball at the University of Missouri. Today he is one of the most valuable members of the Browns' pitching staff.

Every pitcher likes to strike out Babe Ruth. The fans like to see him strike out or make a home run. Either supplies the big thrill.

Pruett certainly has been poison to Ruth. Ruth has faced Pruett nine times during the present season. Nary a hit has the home run king made off the youngster. His hitting against Pruett has been confined to a couple of weak fouls.

In nine trips to the plate against Pruett the Babe has reached first base only once, then by grace of a base on balls.

What has Ruth been doing the rest of the time? Striking out.

Of the nine times that Ruth has faced Pruett the Babe has struck out eight times. In most cases there have been a few called strikes. Babe has taken a healthy cut and missed. In a recent game at New York Pruett worked only five innings, but in that time Ruth was up three times and whiffed on each occasion.

Pruett is the type of pitcher that worries Ruth. First, he is a left hander who doesn't use much speed. That is always a troublesome combination for the big fellow.

Secondly, Pruett has a most remarkable fadeaway ball, rivaling that of Matty's when "Big Six" was at his best. Ruth has batted against fade ways most of the time when facing Pruett.

SHEBOYGAN CLUB IS MADE PART OF VALLEY CIRCUIT

Kaukauna Team Will Play Opening Game at Sheboygan August 9

Oshkosh—Sheboygan bade farewell to independent baseball and will make its debut in the Fox River Valley league next Sunday when it will take the place of deposed Green Bay Club and will play the Oshkosh Indians here. At a meeting of Valley league officials at Sheboygan Monday night action taken at the ouster conference was endorsed, the Green Bay franchise being formally transferred to the Sheboygan chairmakers. While Sheboygan may take the percentage standings of Green Bay, there is a possibility a readjustment of the percentages may be made. If the Green Bay position is taken as the figures stand Sheboygan will lead the league. Sheboygan has a number of big league players in its lineup and consequently will be in a position to give a good account of itself in its new berth. Because of the Green Bay ouster and consequent delay in several games, the league season has been extended to September 10. Originally the season was to close September 4.

The new Sheboygan club will hold its formal opening August 9, when the Kaukauna team will play at Sheboygan. The booster event will be in charge of the Rotary, Kiwanas and Lion clubs of Sheboygan.

TIGERS TRY ATHLETICS
Detroit—Detroit made a clean sweep of the four game series with Philadelphia winning on Tuesday, 11 to 4. The Tigers hit three Athletics pitchers almost at will. Cobb got two hits out of five times up increasing the run of consecutive games in which he has hit safely to sixteen. The score: 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-4 9 0
Philadelphia 0 1 4 3 0 0 3 0-11 16 2
Batteries: Naylor, Hasty, Helmach and Perkins; Bragg.

INDIANS BEAT SENATORS
Cleveland—Cleveland hampered three Washington pitchers for twenty one hits for a total of thirty-five bases and won Tuesday's game 17 to 3. Gardner led in the attack with a home run, three doubles and a single in five times at bat. It was the first complete game Bagby has pitched since early in April. Score: Washington 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 1-3 14 1
Cleveland 0 0 7 3 2 0 5 0-17 21 1
Batteries: Francis, Zachary, Erickson and Pleinich; Bagby, O'Neill and Shinnault.

Junction Pair Wins Last Game Of Quoit Series

The three match quoit series which the "Taxi Twins" and the "Junction Pair" have been playing was brought to a close Tuesday afternoon when the "Pair" defeated the "Twins" by the score of 50 to 28.

This was the most decisive beating suffered by either team and made the pair the winners of the series as they won two out of three games.

Other matches are being negotiated for and will be played in the near future.

YANKS STALL IN WHITE SOX GAME

By Associated Press

Chicago—The Yankees proved poor sportsmen in their final game against the White Sox. After the White Sox had batted out a lead of four runs, the players did almost everything in their power to prolong the game in hope of it being stopped by rain before the required 4½ innings. They were successful in their aim, as it rained so hard in the first half of the fifth inning after one man was out that time was called and when it cleared later, the field was a quagmire. The crowd booed the Yankees and manager Huggins.

VETERANS STILL HAVE TIME TO GET IN THEIR CLAIMS

Former Service Men Have Wrong Information About Filing Claims

Numerous inquiries that have come to the local Red Cross office indicate a rather general impression among former service men that Aug. 9 is the final date for filing compensation claims. Filing of such claims does not cease on that date, Miss Ann Helm, secretary, announced.

It is true, however, that for many disabled persons the last date for procuring a certificate of injury will be Aug. 9, which is one year from the date of the passage of the Sweet bill, she said. That act provides that "no compensation shall be payable for death or disability which does not occur prior to or within one year after discharge or resignation from the service, except that where, after a medical certificate has been obtained from the director of the veterans bureau at the time of discharge or resignation from the service, or within one year thereafter, or within one year after the passage of the amendment act, whichever is the later, to the effect that the injured person at the time of his discharge or resignation was suffering from injury likely to result in death or disability, compensation shall be payable for death or disability whenever occurring approximately resulting from such service."

"It is still true that applications for compensation may be filed at any time within five years after discharge, except active pulmonary tuberculosis or neuro-psychiatric disease which, cases may be compensable if developing within two years after discharge," Miss Helm said. Further information may be obtained at the Red Cross office.

HIGHWAY 15 TO BE COMPLETED BY END OF THIS WEEK

Several Hundred Outagamie County Men Employed on Big Project

Both Appleton Construction Co. and Gross Construction Co. will complete their contracts on trunk line 15 in Dodge-co. and Washington-co. the last of this week and as soon as the gaps are closed there will be continuous pavement from Green Bay to St. Louis, a distance of more than 500 miles.

The greater part of the pavement on trunk line 15 in Wisconsin was built by Appleton contractors, Appleton Construction Co., Gross Construction Co., and Garvey & Weyenberg Construction Co.

Several hundred Outagamie-co. men have been employed on the construction work in Dodge and Washington-co. for the last two seasons and for some time the Appleton Construction Co. has been employing 40 Oneida Indians who are among its most faithful and painstaking road builders. For these reasons Appleton will be particularly interested in the proposed formal opening of the new $4,000,000 highway.

FINDS CAR AFTER RISK FIRM BOUGHT NEW ONE

Victor Blommer had the choice of two automobiles to drive Wednesday morning, following recovery of a Ford coupe at Green Bay Tuesday, which had been stolen from the Appleton man May 27. The stolen car was insured against theft and the company had provided Mr. Blommer with a new one, believing the other was lost. The old car was found abandoned on a Green Bay street by the police and the Appleton officials notified. Mr. Blommer is in communication with the insurance company to find out what disposition will be made of the extra car.

ST. PAUL CHURCH TO INSTALL PASTOR

The Rev. T. J. Sauer Will Conduct Ceremonies Sunday for the Rev. Fred Brandt

English services will be suspended at St. Paul Lutheran church Sunday morning because of the installation ceremonies for the Rev. Fred Brandt, who is to begin his duties next week as assistant pastor.

German services will be held at 10:15 and the installation will be conducted afterward by the Rev. T. J. Sauer, pastor. Special music will be furnished by Concordia choir.

Brandt, who is pastor of the Lutheran church there. He has spent 11 years in training, attending Northwestern college, Watertown, and the Wauwatosa school. He was among the leading students in the graduation class of the latter institution.

TRY 30 RUSSIANS ON LOT CHARGE

Moscow—Death by shooting of 30 of the social revolutionists on trial here, including four women, was demanded by the prosecutor, M. Krylenko, in summarizing the evidence against the defendants. The prisoners shouted their defiance in answer to his accusations.

He said there had been shown, link by link, the connections of the defendants with the various plots charged to them, including the assassination of M. Volodarsky and Uritsky, Soviet leaders in Petrograd in 1918, and attempts to kill Premier Lenin and War Minister Trotsky.

Being without counsel, the principal defendants will make addresses in their own behalf.

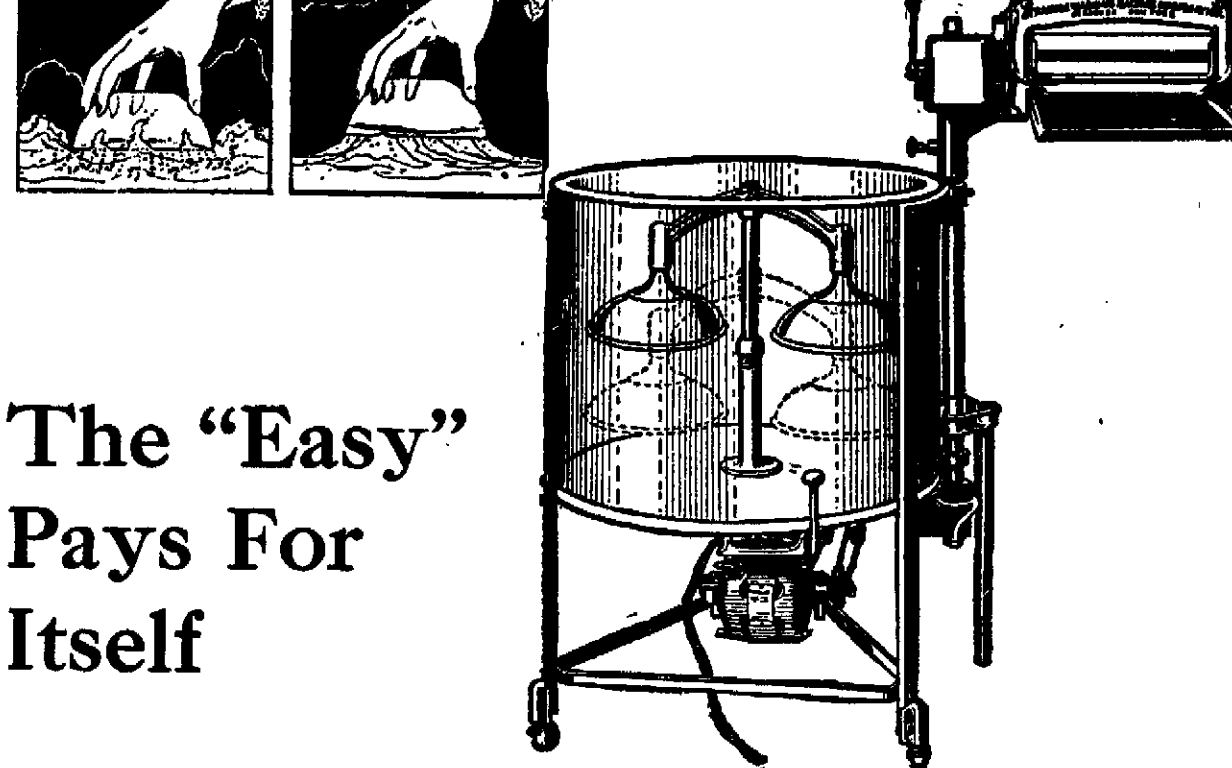

Long Auto Trip

Covering 1,900 miles without a puncture was the experience of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rehbein and daughter Irene who have just returned from a two weeks' automobile trip through Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, and South Dakota. Threshing is well under way in the Dakota and the yield of grain is above the average, Mr. Rehbein said.

The "EASY" Pays For Itself

The "EASY" Vacuum Electric Washing Machine will pay for itself out of what it saves and then pay you a profit of $10 to $15 a month besides.

That is the experience of thousands of housewives who have tried the "EASY" and found that it does their washing satisfactorily.

They know that the "EASY," by air pressure and suction, most nearly duplicates the work of human hands, but almost without effort on their part.

The hot, soapy water is forced through the garments by air pressure and then drawn back again by suction, removing every last particle of dirt. No rubbing, dragging or tearing. Sixty times a minute this happens, the vacuum cups taking a forward position with each down stroke. Operates without vibration. Wringer starts, reverses and swings to any position, instantly. Gas heater heats water to any desired temperature.

Let us demonstrate the "EASY" in your own home and prove it does even more than we say.

Only The Hoover lifts the rug and flutters it over 1,000 times a minute on an air cushion.

90 Per Cent of All House Dirt Hides in Carpetings!

Only The Hoover thoroughly removes this carpet dirt, the 90% and hardest part of house-cleaning. Therein lies the reason why The Hoover is the largest selling electric cleaner in the world.

For The Hoover beats out all nap-wearing, embedded grit which defies sweeping and air suction. The Hoover electrically sweeps up all clinging litter which laughs at air suction. Then The Hoover suctions up this loosened dirt and the surface dirt.

The Hoover performs these three essential operations as speedily and easily as other cleaners merely surface-clean and partially sweep.

Also, with air attachments, The Hoover removes that last 10% of house-dirt which lightly roosts on furniture, draperies, etc.

Popularity, for twelve years, has exceeded Hoover output, forced an ever-increasing production of The Hoover, but in spite of the fact that 3 times as many will be made during this year as last, demand still exceeds the supply. We advise ordering in advance to insure desired delivery.
